The Capital City Field Trial Association will hold its next outdoor gathering at the Indiantown Gap Military Reservation, Lebanon County on March 30 and 31.

Many entries are expected from neighboring states and competition will be unusually keen.

Let's keep the traps out of holes. To date the Game Commission has released over 50,000 cottontails. Many of these have taken shelter in holes in the ground. A trap set there will either kill or maim the rabbits. Why waste time and money restocking if the careless trapper spoils our efforts.

Wild turkeys have returned to the Canadian prairies which they left nearly 80 years ago and are thriving so well that it is predicted some day they may rival their domesticated cousins. Six years ago five birds were taken from Pennsylvania to the Moose Jaw Wild Animal Park. Since then pairs of birds have been supplied elsewhere and the number is rapidly increasing. Commercial flocks are being established.
